Arundel Festival | 2019

16th–26th August

WELCOME

The Arundel Festival is a celebration of music, drama and art, which takes place over a 10 day period in the summer. This historic market town opens its heart and doors to visitors to experience the wonderful eclectic mix on offer through art and theatre trails. Live music can heard in the streets, by the river and in a variety of venues.

Here at Arundel Castle, we are hosting the Illyria theatre company's production of Shakespeare's 'The Tempest', in the enchanting Collector Earl's garden. Guests can enjoy picnicking in the castle lawns prior to the performance which makes for a very special evening as the sun sets. It is a great opportunity to view outdoor theatre in this unique setting. The stage is set with the stunning backdrop of the Gothic style, Arundel Cathedral of our Lady and St Philip Howard, with its stained glass glow and the striking plants and aromas of the castle garden. We do hope you can join us this year.

I recognise the dedication of the Festival Committee, volunteers and indeed all the residents and businesses that embrace this wonderful celebration of the Arts. Arundel's many 'pop up' galleries, Theatre and live music can be enjoyed by so many, allowing people another reason to explore this wonderful town.

Here's to another incredible Arundel Festival.

Arundel Festival, now in its 41st year, is a very special event of the town. It brings together all the community, offering many and diverse events including the Gallery and Theatre Trails, the Scout 10k run and Dragon Boat Racing. There are many places to eat and stay in the town to help you enjoy the Festival.

Arundel Town Council is delighted to support the Festival and acknowledges the amount of work put in by the Committee and volunteers to make Arundel Festival an event not to be missed.

ARUN DISTRICT COUNCIL

BROCA'S AREA

An interview with writers Justine Hextall and Julie Markey

What was the inspiration for the play?

We had such a happy 2 years in a creative writing class taught by retired Journalist Peter Martin, we realised that somehow our writing worked well together and we made each other laugh, a lot – absolutely vital. We decided we wanted to explore the subject of intimacy, specifically that atavistic ability to recognise it between 2 people, and the seed of Broca's area was planted. We wanted a dual narrative and for the play to be immersive. In truth we spent many Saturday afternoons dancing to Jean Knight's Mr Big Stuff and imagining who we'd invite to our Oscar show after party.

Tell us about your second play La Vie En Rose

This is the same characters imagined a year later, how their lives have unfolded. The writing process for this was different in that we walked for miles just discussing the characters and their lives, we love them all, despite their faults, they are our Broca family ! We swam quite a lot too, and once became so engrossed Julie to this day is convinced we were on our way to France. We are prepared to suffer for our art.

How did you find the actors?

We both knew the actors, and knew they were phenomenal, we just had to persuade them. We are so lucky as they are incredible, the night of the first read through we couldn't believe our luck. We are such good friends now, we love rehearsing together, we couldn't ask for more.

Where next?

Well we have just performed Broca's area in London, we would love to take the second play there too. I think Edinburgh... that would be wonderful.

SMART GAMES

Advertisement Feature

Smart Games, the worldwide leader in creating multi-level logic games, is thrilled to be sponsoring this year's Arundel Festival. Based in the company's hometown in West Sussex, the festival is very close to the team's heart and they look forward to meeting visitors this August and playing a game or two with you all!

This year the brand is delighted to be partnering with Squibbly Biskit. A local, independent store offering a fantastic range of gifts for children including a large display of Smart Games.

The multi award winning brand has become known for designing truly unique games with innovative and engaging mechanics. With a huge collection of games and puzzles to choose from, there's a smart toy to spark every interest and imagination.

Discover the magic of classic fairy tales, with the brands bestselling 'Once Upon a Time' collection which includes; Sleeping Beauty, Little Red Riding Hood, Snow White and Three Little Piggies. These enchanting puzzle games are suitable for ages three + and come with a lovely illustrated book as well. 'Three Little Piggies' is a lovely brain teasing game; where children will be intrigued by the way the piggies fit inside the houses and look through the windows to escape the wolf.

Jump In' is a fun-filled unique and innovative game that truly engages everyone both young and old. Bounce the bunnies and slide the foxes around the game board until all of the bunnies are safe in their burrows. Enjoyable and educational, this brain teaser contains 60 multi-level challenges ranging from the very easy to expert – perfect for kids from 7years and adults alike! What may seem like a simple solution soon becomes a challenge; the perfect way to encourage children to plan, problem solve and use logical thinking.

Enjoy an interactive trip to the farm with Smart Games' Smart Farmer, a fun game for children 5+. It is an important job being the farmer, especially at this farm where the animals are in chaos! The Pigs, Sheep, Horses and Cows are making a big mess and need to be separated, but the player will need to give this some thought as there are only 3 simple fences to divide the field into separate meadows. Help by placing the fences so the animals each get their own space, and, don't forget about the animal's water - they each need their own supply.

The much-loved IQ range is a must. IQ-Puzzler Pro features 120 challenges in three playing modes, including both 2D and 3D challenges! The top of the game board features a grid for 2D challenges and a separate grid for 3D pyramid challenges, while the bottom of the board features a completely different 2D challenge grid. All in the same compact, portable travel case.

With multi-level challenges from the very easy to the very challenging; Smart Games are perfect for players of all ages. Each game has a unique and innovative game mechanic with themes that appeal to both boys and girls. They come in travel, compact and table top editions in plastic or a premium wood range. Each game comes with a range of educational and STEM benefits including helping to stimulate Spatial Insight, Planning, Problem Solving, Concentration, and Flexible Thinking skills.

Make sure you pop along to the stand and challenge the Smart Games team to a game!

2018 was a very special year, since circuses all over the world, celebrated the creation of Circus 250 years ago in 1768 in the UK. The first circus as we know it today was set up, across the River Thames opposite the Houses of Parliament, by a retired cavalry officer called Philip Astley. He discovered that a performance ring with a diameter of 42' was the smallest circumference that horses could gallop within. Initially he put together outside entertainment, presenting horsemanship displays to which he added acrobats, jugglers, and clowns. He went on to build amphitheatres across Europe and to train members of several Royal Households in horsemanship!

There are 2 A shows & 2 B shows to enjoy on Saturday 17th August and Sunday 18th August. 8 shows in total.

Susannah Conway
Show Coordinator

Our work is collaborative with artists, businesses, residents and community groups to build positive joint working opportunities, delivering cohesive outcomes and increasing support for the Town and this year's Arundel Festival.

Moving forward, we'd like to offer a varied programme of cultural events that have a positive commercial outcome for the town.

OPENING CEREMONY
Saturday 17th August

At midday our ever popular 'The Alternatives' are guaranteed to get everyone in the party mood. They were formed in 2005 to raise money for local charities. The 5 piece rock band will be playing a range of classic covers from the 50's to the 90's. Recent charities that the band have supported, include Winstons Wish, Care for Veterans and The Woodlands Trust.

At 12.45 David Lyndon Courtney from Arundel Pianos together with his great songwriting partner Paul Francis Kelly will be performing. In 2015 their music formed the backbone of a new British musical 'Directions'.

At 2pm Celebration Samba "celebrating life", an established favourite on the Festival scene will open the proceedings with a drumming display throughout the town and in Jubilee. 2019 will mark the band's 16th year, having been founded originally in 2003 by Janice and Ivan Mitchell, simply because Worthing needed a samba band! The band now boasts more than 40 members in its "Bateria" of all ages. From the sudos (players of the large drums) who provide the main beat for many of the pieces, to reps and snares who play some great rolling rhythms, to the high pitched tams, bells and shakers. They all play their part in creating the sweet sound of samba music.

At approximately 2.30pm, the flag raising ceremony will be conducted by Angela Standing the Town Crier and will announce the official opening of the 2019 Festival. Wendy E, the Mayor and Mike Tu, the Festival Chairman will raise the flag to mark the start of the celebrations.

This will be followed by the big Arundel Dance, featuring Urban City Collective known as the Division. They have recently supported Street Dance Sensation, Diversity, Flawless and Peter André. This will be followed by a Flash Mob Style Dance, where people of all ages can join the professionals and dance all around the streets of Arundel. So check the website for details and watch out for the Knight!

One of the missions for this year was to direct themed days that encouraged participation and fostered community spirit through the appreciation of the arts. Central to this mission was to re-energise the festival by showcasing a 'fringe', 'Covent Garden style' event that could be replicated throughout the year in Jubilee to connect with the Town square as one. A key focus was to reconnect with residents, businesses and the community organisations to ensure participation and engagement. Moving forward we'd like to offer a varied programme of cultural events that have a positive commercial outcome for the Town. GALLERY TRAIL

There have been changes in the running of the ever-popular Gallery Trail, as it enters its fourth decade of operation. Mark and Rebecca Ford, who not only managed to marshall the hundred or so artists each year for five years, but also brightened up the town with their huge willow sculptures, have stepped down. A new organising committee headed up by Marty Lowell, Penny Schuler, Sarah Stafford, Andy Waite and Russell Le Page (of Juniper on Tarrant Street), have been active overseeing the registrations for this summer, and setting up a new website (visit www.arundelgallerytrail.co.uk to get a taste of the variety of artists' work).

This year the Victoria Institute will be venue #1 on the trail and a lot will be happening there. International Origami artist Michael Trew has been commissioned to design a unique installation as part of the Gallery Trail. On 2 July he will be running a one-day adult workshop at the Vic to create a multitude of Origami pieces. Artists exhibiting on the Trail will become the makers in this group initiative. The whole process will be filmed by Beechtobeach of Arundel using time-lapse photography, and the final installation piece will remain in situ at the Vic during the Trail.

Another installation piece will inhabit the 'never before used' basement rooms. Artist Julie Turner will be transforming the rooms, bringing back to life long-abandoned spaces. Expect something a little bit surreal from an artist who is known for her use of out-of-context garments and doll-like figures.

Other artists who will be exhibiting in the Vic include some from Arundel, London and elsewhere, with a couple of young, local 'emerging' artists, making the most of every available space on all floors. Christopher Baker, exhibiting in the town rather than in his Binsted studio, will be showing large landscape paintings and sketchbooks in the downstairs 'brick-room'. In the entrance hall and adjoining room Polly Dutton will be showing her energetic textured pieces of work. Trail guides listing all exhibiting artists will also be available here.

Oliver Mitchell, a recent graduate of the Slade School of Fine Art will be showing his digital "stretched glass" works and architectural paintings in the upper stairwell. Also exhibiting for the first time will be Rob Shrine, an Arundel-based tattoo artist. In the large first floor room there will be pots, bowls and ceramics by Jonathan Waights, and monoprints by Johannah Muriel, both regular Gallery Trail exhibitors. Contemporary makers are also well represented. Nettie Rowsell, a professional textile conservator at Parham House, will be showing her evocative thread portraits. International weave artist Margo Selby returns to Arundel, where years ago she studied with Ann Sutton, to show a wall of abstract geometric textile panels woven at her Whitstable studio. In the top floor studio, as in previous years, will be landscapes by Frances Knight.

Also at the Vic will be a "secret artist" exhibition of panels by 50 different artists. These will be auctioned to raise funds for next years gallery trail. Artists identities will be unknown until after the auction but we are promised a few famous name surprises.

This is all in just one building and there will be more than 60 additional venues not to mention some innovative installation art on the roundabouts. The Gallery Trail as a whole will extend all round the town, with every kind of style and media on show, with artists and makers ranging from the well-established to the first-time exhibitors. We can be sure that with the new team of organisers on the case there will be a really exciting mix.
